

Seema Mahendru's Profile:

Seema was born and brought up in New Delhi, where she obtained bachelor's and master's degrees in both Biological Sciences and Education (B.Ed, M.Ed). She taught in India for 11 years before moving to Canada in 2005.

She currently lives in Toronto with her husband and teaches at an elementary school. Besides teaching, her other passions are cooking and singing. She is very conscientious about her professional growth and has taken up at least one new professional course every year. She has also learnt the French language since moving to Canada.

She is a member of the Ontario College of Teachers and her professional profile can be found at:
